

THE PRESIDENTIAL RACES.

A Chicago dispatch of January 20th says the Presidential question is absorbing a large amount of attention among newspaper men; and interviews with leading politicians are being held daily. The scores of summaries sent in from the principal cities in the West give a pretty fair index, it is presumed, of the condition of the public mind on the subject of nominees. This is principally true of Republican candidates. As far as regards the Democrats there seems to be a great deal of uneasiness, of uncertainty. Tilden doubtless has the lead in the race, yet, with Thurman and Hendricks crowding him closely, any number of dark horses are in the immediate rear. The interviews give the following general results among Republicans: By far a greater number express the preference for Blaine, who is especially strong in Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska. The next strongest candidate is Sherman, who even in Iowa crowds Blaine pretty close, and in Wisconsin and Ohio, and in a number of Western and Southern States Sherman has a following that is slightly working with much more effect than noise. A surprising number also express a preference for Hayes, despite his declaration that he would not be a candidate, these are understood to be all for Sherman for the second choice. Grant takes the third place in nearly every return. His strength seems to have been greatly over-rated by his friends and among the people at large, who have been misled by the honors paid him as a General and a distinguished traveler, into believing the people were rising in a spontaneous demand that he be their President. In the West he seems to be destined to secure only a moderate support. Washburne has been named as a second choice for the Grant men, and undeniably has some elements of strength, but much less than his political adherents could wish. He is not regarded by the shrewdest politicians as a probable or even a possible candidate of any strength. Conkling gets barely a recognition in the interview, as do also Edmunds, Garfield and others. Taking one hundred as the number of votes in the West, the preferences indicated by the interviews might be expressed thus: Blaine, 37; Sherman and Hayes, 30; Grant, 24; scattering, 9.

THE EUREKA WISH.

The Republican County Central Committee of Eureka has had a meeting. The Leader says that "a discussion of the policy of holding a State Convention to elect delegates to the National Republican Convention, at Chicago, was had. It was the general expression that a direct appeal should be made to the people, and that their choice should be consulted. There being but one method of arriving at that expression, it was decided that a series of resolutions should be passed, asking the Republican State Central Committee to call a State Convention for that purpose, and to request the State Central Committee to apportion the delegates to be allowed in said convention from the various counties in the State, and that the various counties be requested to select said delegates, either by general convention or primary elections, as may be deemed most advisable. This was put in the form of a motion, and was adopted. A committee, consisting of W. W. Bishop, C. C. Wallace and C. L. Canfield, was appointed to draft said resolutions."

The Democrats are a good deal mollified by late events. The great crime in Maine begins to loom up as one of their biggest blunders, and added to other blunders the load weighs them down. They might thrive for a time on successful fraud, but the anticipation of failure in all their plots is too much. That accounts for their moderation just now. They have decided in caucus to pass all the appropriation bills as the President last year signed them, thus ranking no fight except on the bill to pay United States Marshals, and it is said that even upon that they may compromise away their last ditch. The poor fellows are in a bad way and even their Greenback friends threaten to abandon them.

That General John B. Hawley is a candidate for Governor of Illinois, will probably be nominated, and therefore will be lost to the Government service as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in a few months seems to have become the settled belief of almost everybody in Washington.

The first time that General Grant met Sheridan he received so fiery and brusque an answer from him that he gained a very bad impression. But he asks Sheridan with the greatest soldiers of all times, and is very fond of him.

NEVADA—THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR PRESIDENT.

The call for a meeting of the State Central Committee is the opening note of the Presidential campaign, and from this time on until the election is over politics will be the absorbing theme of conversation. In the National Republican Convention this State is entitled to six delegates, and it is very desirable that the delegation should be unanimous in their choice, and should support the man who comes the nearest to representing our interests, and yet one who is acceptable to the party throughout the country. That man is Jas. G. Blaine. The three prominent candidates before the Convention will be Blaine, Grant and Sherman, and we have no idea that any "dark horse" will win this time. It is not unlikely that Grant will be nominated. Already several States have indicated that he is their first choice—Colorado, Tennessee, Kentucky, and it is almost a certainty that the New York and Pennsylvania delegations will be for him. Possibly he will have the support of the colored delegates from the South, though Sherman and the Syndicate will not hesitate to offer inducements (financial) to this class, which may cause them to vote for Sherman, and their vote, added to that of Ohio, will give the Secretary a prominent position before the Convention, though we have not the slightest idea that he will be enabled to secure the nomination. Certainly he ought not to receive a single vote from Nevada. He has at all times been an enemy to our interests. Blaine's stand on the Chinese question entitles him to receive the vote of Nevada, and the other Pacific coast States. He conscientiously maintained our rights on that question, when he knew he was displeasing every palm-singer in his own State. He is nearer to us on the silver question than either Grant or Sherman. In many respects he would make a better President than either of them. He would respond quicker to the public will, and is a much stronger man before the people now than in 1876. In the selection of delegates from this State the plan proposed by the Eureka Republicans is probably as good as any, yet, in our opinion, the more economical and satisfactory solution of the question, would be for primaries to be held for Republicans to indicate their preference, and then for the State Central Committee to appoint the delegates, pledging them to vote for the man preferred by a majority of the voters, as expressed at the primaries.

NEW YORK AND THE PRESIDENCY.

The Republicans of New York have the power to settle the question how that State will go in the Presidential campaign, during the present session of the Legislature, by simply dividing the State into electoral districts, which would give the Republicans 24, and the Democrats 11. The Democracy then, under the most favorable circumstances, would not be able to secure 185 votes for their candidate, and the Sun comes to the conclusion that Tilden, Seymour, Church, Hancock, Bayard, McClellan, English, Parker, Randall and other aspirants whose hopes were founded on the theory of carrying New York fall by the board at one fell swoop. The Legislature may not make the change, but it is certainly a very tempting movement on the political chess-board. The Herald thinks the Democrats have no reasonable hope of electing the President without all the votes of New York. They need 47 in addition to the 138 of the solid South. New York with New Jersey and Connecticut would give them 50; New York with Indiana would also give them 50; and these four doubtful States are the only ones in which they have any chance at all. But if New York elects by districts the Democrats, even if they carry the State, will have only 11 of its electoral votes, and these added to the 30 of the other three doubtful States would make only 41 Northern electoral votes, whereas they cannot possibly succeed with less than 47. The Republicans, therefore, would apparently make a sure thing of the Presidential election by dividing New York into districts for the choice of electors.

The United States Agricultural Society held its annual meeting in Washington on the 15th and elected the following officers: President, John Merriam, of Maryland; Secretary, Bon P. Poore, Massachusetts; Treasurer, W. S. French, New Hampshire, and one Vice President from each State and Territory. Measures were taken to revive the usefulness of the society, which has been neglected of late years, and to form local organizations in every State and Territory under its auspices.

The business of Denver, it is claimed, reaches the total of $26,000,000 for the year 1879. The number of buildings erected in that city, was 382, at a total value of $2,378,930.

MELANGE.

Nevada City is growing rapidly. Lovely, cold weather in Truckee. The dog-poisoner worries Austin. Spiritualistic rappings in Eureka. Tramps are flocking into Arizona. Tuscarora complains of wood thieves. Opium dens are in full blast in Montana.

The annual report of the Astor Library states that the fund for the maintenance of the library is now $421,000, and the endowment, increased in 1879, now amounts to $1,112,957. There were 5,869 volumes added to the library last year.

There appears to have been a turn in the tide of exports and imports of treasure at New York during the last week, the exports being in excess to the amount of $60,300. This is widely at variance with the movements of the six months previous.

There never was a time in the history of New York when so many vessels lay in the harbor awaiting cargoes. On Saturday last the number reached 872, of all grades and all destinations. Stress of weather has had something to do in producing this situation of affairs, but it is mainly due to the stagnation in trade, especially in the grain and provision markets.

The financial statement of the Secretary of the California mine shows that the product of the mine during the year was $2,578,713, out of which $1,620,000 was paid in dividends. The surplus on hand at the close of the year was $21,577 46, but this does not include the bullion received on January account, which thus far amounts to $105,000.

The Sierra Nevada Secretary's report showed receipts during the past year of $1,469,740 17, of which $190,141 51 was the bullion product of the mine. The present indebtedness is $276,913 52, to offset which an assessment aggregating $300,000 is now in process of collection. The Superintendent's report speaks most encouragingly of the mine. Skane has retired from the management of the mine, and the control is now in the hands of the bonanza firm.

Mrs. General Sherman has sent out the following appeal for aid to the suffering poor in Ireland:

Well known responsible parties in Ireland having made personal application to me for some relief for their famines threatened already suffering poor. I respectfully request you to aid me by a contribution in raising a sum for them. This is not intended to interfere with the large collections which will after awhile be sent to them. It is to be only a quiet, modest, but cheering harbinger of greater things to come. Every contribution, however small, will receive prompt and grateful acknowledgment by mail. Please address Mrs. W. T. Sherman, Care General Sherman, No. 817 Fifteenth street, Washington, D. C.

The Report shows that the Napa Asylum is one of the most cheaply conducted in the United States, the cost per capita, per day, is 11 7-22 cents, or yearly $160 50. Nevada pays $1 per day to Langdon & Clark, when if her patients were kept at home the cost would be no more than the Napa Asylum costs the State of California.

Conkling's candidacy for the Presidency is the latest excitement in political circles. Conkling has no show for the nomination.

IRRIGATION.

[Battle Mountain Messenger 10th.]

This, the leading and most important question of Nevada farmers of to-day, and one that when fully solved will make Nevada an agricultural as well as a mining State, is being practically tested by Mr. J. H. Slavan, of Argenta, a gentleman who has read and thought a great deal upon this all-absorbing question of proper irrigation.

After mastering the thing in his mind to his own satisfaction, he came to the conclusion to test the practicability of taking water from the Humboldt river and carrying it upon his land. For this purpose he secured the right of way for a ditch or flume from Argenta to Battle Mountain, a distance, by way of the proposed ditch, of 13 miles, and on the first day of May, 1879, he commenced operations by building a dam on the south channel of the Humboldt, in Section 12, of Township 32 North, Range 46 East, M. D. M. The dam is 75 feet long, 7 feet high and 6 feet across the top, with gates to regulate the flow of water into the ditch, which connects at this point with the dam. The ditch runs along the north side of the Central Pacific Railroad and is surveyed the whole distance from Argenta to Battle Mountain. It has been completed over a mile and Mr. Slavan had the water from it during the past season on some of his land, from which he raised a good crop of barley, oats, potatoes, turnips and beets.

The land is very rich and productive and with plenty of water and a little cultivation, may be made to produce as fine a crop as any in California.

With the completion of the Argenta and Battle Mountain ditch a large amount of good land on the north side of the railroad track will be brought under cultivation, and a good chance will be had for persons to get hold of a nice little farm, for most of the land belongs to the Central Pacific Railroad Company and can be bought for a trifle.

This ditch is a private enterprise, Mr. Slavan being sole owner, and we hope to see it, at some future day, return to its enterprising projector and builder a handsome revenue, as it surely will. More of such work is needed in this section of our country, and there is no doubt but that the day is not far distant when the waters of the Humboldt will be giving life to many a growing field of grain, and instead of sending away for potatoes, grain, etc., the farmers will be able to supply Battle Mountain with all these important articles.

Lebanon, Me., is proud of possessing the stupidest man in the United States. He is a farm hand, and was engaged to plow a ten-acre lot. Wishing him to draw a straight furrow, his employer directed his attention to a cow grazing right opposite, telling him to drive directly toward that cow. He started his horses, and his employer's attention was drawn to something else; but in a short time, looking round he found that the cow had left her place, while the sagacious plowman was following her, drawing a zigzag furrow all over the field.
